

Dear Kaleidescape Customer,

Kaleidescape is pleased to announce the release of KEAOS 3.4. You can check which KEAOS version is running by viewing the "System Summary" tab of the "System Status" page on the On-screen Display (OSD) or by viewing the "System Status" area in the upper right corner of the Web Utility. You can use a networked computer to access your Kaleidescape Web Utility at <http://my-kaleidescape> (Windows) or at <http://my.kaleidescape.local> (Mac OS X).

KEAOS 3.4 includes significant improvements to the Kaleidescape Experience:

- Improved Music Guide coverage of CDs, especially for the European market.
- Improved international support with movie language and subtitle preferences.
- Easier editing of music album metadata.
- Various user interface enhancements.
- Music interface enhancements for classical music (beta testing only).

The following are more detailed descriptions of the new features in KEAOS 3.4:

- Improved Music Guide coverage of CDs:
Recognition of CD albums is significantly improved in KEAOS 3.4: The average hit-rate for CDs released in the United States has improved from 87% to 98%, and for European CD releases the improvement is even greater, going from 73% to 97%.
- Improved international support with language and subtitle preferences:
With KEAOS 3.4, a Kaleidescape Movie Player can be set to play movies in a preferred language. A different preference may be selected for each viewing zone in the home. You may also choose whether the Movie Player will play a dubbed soundtrack or display subtitles when the original soundtrack is not in your preferred language. For example, you could set the media room to always use the original soundtrack with German subtitles (which will only show if the original soundtrack is not in German), the master bedroom to always use the German soundtrack (dubbed if necessary), and a second bedroom to use the original soundtrack with English subtitles (for non-English movies).

- Easier editing of music album metadata:

KEAOS 3.4 allows for editing of the metadata for a recognized CD using the Web Utility. In previous KEAOS versions, if you wanted to make even minor changes to the CD details, you had to re-enter all of the information for the album.

- User interface enhancements:

A variety of OSD user interface enhancements have been included in KEAOS 3.4:

- Clear paused movie list

The list of paused movies may now be cleared from within the Movie Collections Paused tab.

- Preview a music track when adding to a mix album

As you add songs to a mix album, you now have the ability to preview a song before you decide whether to add it.

- All vs. top 40 genres

There is a very large number of music genres. To reduce confusion, only the top 40 genres are listed in the Music Collections Genres tab. KEAOS 3.4 now offers the option (in the Genres tab) to list all of the music genres in your collection.

- Multiple artist portraits

While playing music through a Movie Player, KEAOS 3.4 displays an entertaining sequence of different portraits of the album's artist or artists.

- Classical music features (beta testing only):

A music interface enhancement for classical music, planned for a future release, is available for preview in KEAOS 3.4. This enhancement organizes your classical music by Composer and by Work, which is much more appropriate and intuitive for those who appreciate the genre. With these two new Music Collections tabs, listeners can easily explore their collection, and compare and contrast various interpretations of classical works. The design of this enhancement is subject to change as a result of user feedback. In order to enable this enhancement, enter the following sequence of digits using your touch panel or remote control: 18121812.
